D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

Death of H. L. Ross

Harvey Lee Ross, father of Doctor J. L. Ross and George C. Ross of Redwood City, passed away at his home in Oakland last Sunday. Mr. Ross was born in Senneca County, New York, October 10th, 1817 and moved with his parents to Illinois in 1821. In that state he became prominent in politics and won distinction by his espousal of the anti-slavery cause. He was an intimate friend of Abraham Lincoln who acted as his attorney on numerous occasions. Mr. Ross took a prominent part in the affairs of his state and in the latter years of his life he loved to tell of the political contests in which he took part at the time Lincoln was coming into prominence. The first election in Fulton county, where Mr. Ross resided wa sheld in hisfather's house and only 35 votes were cast, where at present there are over five million voters. Gen. Andrew Jackson was another of Mr. Ross' friends, and he always recalled with pleasure his entertainment at Jackson's house. He was also acquainted with the great circuit riding minister, Peter Cartwright and has often listened to his sermons.

Mr. Ross came to California about twenty years ago. He was a man of the highest ideals, beloved for his honesty and uprightness of character.

W. L. Davis Passes Away

W. L. Davis passed away at his home Monday from heart affliction. Mr Davis had been down town but a short time before his demise and the news of hissudden death came as a great surprise to his friends. Mr. Davis was born in Ireland nearly 67years ago but came to America when a mere child. He located in Boston but later went to Mississippi where he was residing when that state decided to secede. He immediatly cast his lot with the fortunes of his adopted state and fought under the "stars and bars" in a number of engagements, notably Bull Run and Gettysburg. Soon after the war Mr. Davis came to the coast, finally locating in Nevada. In 1897 he came to Redwood City and purchased the Redwood City Democrat. Later he sold his entire interest to J. V. Swift and retired to enjoy the fruits of his labor. The deceased leaves to mourn his death, his wife one son William Davis, and two daughters, Grace and Irene Davis. The funeral was held Wednesday from the family residence and the remains were conveyed via the 12:03 train to Cypress Lawn Cemetery where the interement took place. Rev. Mr. Foote of St. Peter's Episcopal Church conducted the services.

COMING OF THE PENINSULAR RAILROAD HAS CAUSED LAND PRICES TO GO SKYWARD.

Some six or seven years ago University Heights, a mile or so west of the Stanford buildings, was plotted as a town site. It was generally believed at that time that the university town would be located there and intimate friends of Senator Stanford made investments there with that understanding. Another inducement was the belief that the ecectric road was immediately to be built along the foot hills. None of these promises materilized and the Heights, although beautifully located in the foothills, never advanced further than the building of a few homes.

The general development of this section and the public intention of the Peninsula Railroad to build an electric road along the hills back of the university has evived interest in the Heights and a number of sales of lots there have been made in the past two weeks. Most of the property was held by non-residents owners, and one can judge of the value that was placed on this property in the early days by the fact that lots are now being sold for the original prices and even less in same case.—Palo Alto Tribune

Scramble for Surveyorship

There is quite a scramble on for the vacant surveyorship. There are many applicants for the place which pays a salary of $1,600 a year. The supervisors may take up the matter next Monday and fill the vacancy. Among those who are seeking the position are J. E. Woods, of Pescadero. He is the father of Victor Woods who was surveyor-general of the state up until the first of January. Mr. Woors, Sr., was chief deputy in his son's office up until recently. He is very competent surveyor. James Neuman, who has been a deputy under Mr. Gilbert, also aspires for the place. During Mr. Gilbert's illness he conducted the office to the satisfaction of every one. He is fully competent to perform the duties of the place. Mr. Neuman has a strong backing. A. L. Fulton, of this city, would take the appointment if tendered to him He is an old surveyor and followed the profession up until he entered the lumber business. Mr. Fulton would make a good official. D. Bromfield, of San Mateo, has not as yet announced his intention of entering the race, but it is believed he will be an aspirant.

TREED AND NETTED.

The Way Hunters Capture the Orang Outang Alive.

Trapping the smaller members of the monkey family is a comparatively easy matter, but the hunter who wishes to secure live specimens of the orang outang cannot have recourse to the usual methods and has to employ a laborious process. The process is based upon the fact that the orangs have a liking for certain trees and frequent these to the exclusion of other nearby growths. They seem to regard them as a sanctuary and flee to them in time of danger. Ascertaining a tree particularly favored, the hunter first drives his quarry to its branches; then while his beaters keep up a din for the purpose of preventing an attempt at escape the natives are set to work to chop at the trees within a radius of fifty feet all about the simian fortress. No trunk is cut completely through, but is left with just enough fiber to hold the tree in position. This work is quickly accomplished with the large corps of servants, and at a signal one of the trees is toppled over. The chopping has been so done that the falling tree carries with it its neighbor, and in the twinkling of an eye the trees within a radius of fifty feet from the marked tree lie upon the ground, leaving the orang outangs with no opportunity for getting away through their leafy avenues of escape. The remainder of the process simply consists of chopping down the tree of refuge and throwing nets over the escaping orangs, in which they soon become entangled in their efforts to throw off the incumbrance.

TRICKS IN ARITHMETIC.

Subtract 45 From 45 and Have 45 as a Remainder.

If you were asked to subtract 45 from 45 and have 45 as a remainder, you would be likely to say that the proposition is either a "catch" or an impossibility. But here it is, set down in plain figures, and you will find that it is neither one nor the other:

9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

8 6 4 1 9 7 5 3 2

Here, you see, are the nine digits from 9 to 1 written down in that order, and below them are the same digits from left to right, and you will see that each line makes 45, and you will find that the remainder—the third line—adds up 45.

Another little exercise is to set down the following fifteen figures and then see if you can use six of them in such a way as to make a total of 21:

One way of doing it is to take the two 7's, one 5 and one 1, which make four figures, footing up 20, and then to use two other figures as a fraction to represent one. For example, 7 plus 7 plus 5 plus 1 plus 3-3 equals 21.—Baltimore Sun

AN EXECUTION IN INDIA.

The Way a Man Guilty of Murder Underwent Decapitation.

A letter from India to a German paper gives this account of the execution near Bombay of a man who had been found guilty of the murder of his brother-in-law: "The question as to whether the culprit should be executed or sent to prison for life was, as is the custom, submitted to the family of the murdered man for decision. All, including the wife of the murdered, voted for death. When the place of execution was reached the condemned man knelt, and the ropes which were fastened to him were handed over to the executioner's assistants. The one who held the neck rope took a few steps before the kneeling man and the other two stood at either side. Then the executioner, armed with a razor edged, heavy knife, advanced and asked in a loud voice, 'Who authorizes the execution?' and the chief of police answered, 'The law.' The question was asked and answered three times, while the armed man advanced, slowly swinging the mighty blade. As the last answer was heard an assistant executioner thrust a needle point into the kneeling man's back and he made an involuntary motion forward with his head. The three ropes were pulled taut, leaving the neck extended to the utmost. At the same instant the knife whirred through the air and the head of the murderer rolled in the sand."

LIVE LIKE A KING.

It's Not a Difficult Matter In a Modern New York Hotel.

No crowned head ever pillowed itself for a night's lodging with the satisfaction of knowing that under the same roof there were a thousand persons paid to look after its safety, comfort and luxury, unless that crowned head found itself in a modern New York hotel, where a regiment of "help" is employed, consisting of clerks, chefs, pastry cooks, meat cooks, bakery men, soup cooks, detectives, watchmen, engineers, electricians, plumbers, carpenters, laundrymen, doormen, porters, butlers, waiters, stewards, wine and cigar experts, decorators, messengers, waiting maids and chambermaids.

Any person with $4 in his pockets can have the advantages of this regimental array of servants for one day by paying the price of a room at any of the greater hotels recently constructed in the metropolis, though, of course, $4 is the lowest figure. Many of the rooms cost double that sum a day, and some of the state apartments, with bedrooms, gorgeous parlor, private dining room and bath, are not let for less than $100 or $125 a day. Even the four dollar rooms have baths, but the price of room or apartment does not include meals.—Remsen Crawford in Success.

"Book of Mormon."

The "Book of Mormon" has been proved to be a literary plagiarism, being a free paraphrase of a romance written by the Rev. Solomon Spalding in 1816, the manuscript of which came into the possession of Joseph Smith, and he, sitting behind a curtain, dictated it to Oliver Cowdery, who, seated out of sight of the reader, wrote the matter as it was given him. Smith pretended that the book was discovered to him by revelation and dug up from the side of a hill not far from Palmyra, in the county of Ontario, N. Y. The claim was made by Smith that the writing on the plates was engraved in "reformed Egyptian," which he was unable to read until magic spectacles, which he called his Urim and Thummim, were given to him, enabling him both to read and translate into English. The spectacles and the metal plates have disappeared, and the story of the dictation makes tolerably clear the manner in which the "Book of Mormon" had its origin.

It Pays to Be Cheerful.

The spirit of cheerfulness is sometimes the result of a happy temperament whose nerves have never been disturbed by loss, sickness or calamity. Sometimes it is the abundance of youth still finding a surplus of vigor after the toils of the day. Sometimes it is the expression of character which from the reserves of its own nature and experience is able to preserve a cheerful disposition under even the most discouraging circumstances and face life always with hope and good cheer. Such a character is a strength and a defense not only to him who has it, but to all his associates and to all who feel his influence. They are the watchtowers of humanity, whose lights shine through the dark night of human struggle and whose word is an inspiration of hope and encouragement.

"Did any one ever read your writings?" asked the artist. "Certainly!" responded the haughty poet. "Every editor in the country has read them."

POMPEIAN MASSAGE CREAM

is today indispensable on the dressing table of gentlewoman or gentleman. Not only does a Pompeian Massage perfectly cleanse the skin, but it removes wrinkles and blackheads, takes out stiffness of the facial muscles, animates the tissues, and makes the flesh firm and solid. Men use Pompeian Cream after shaving—it flexes the muscles and takes away shaving soreness. Most women recognize the value of this preparation in maintaining a clear and healthy skin.

SUPERVISORS IN SESSION

BUSNESS TRANSACTED BY THE AT LAST MEETING

The board of supervisors held an adjourned meeting last Monday. All the members were present. This was the day set for the architects to meet and confer with the supervisors and explain their various designs for the new court house. There were six sets of papers examined, and they were illustrated by photographs of the perspectives of the building, as well as blue prints of the different elevations.

Chas Allen was the first to explain his design. He was thorough in showing the completeness of his plans, saying they were an improvement on the former ones. He said the cost of construction would be within the limit prescribed by the board, to-wit, $125,000. The next to appear before the board was the firm of McDonald & Dean, New York architects who came recently to San Francisco. They had a fine set of plans and both explained their merits in a convincing manner. Mr. McDonald said he had erected large building in New York and could give the board the very best recommendations. Mr. Coffey, of the firm of Martens & Coffey, went over his design very thoroughly. The interior of the building showed an excellent arrangement of the various offices. There was no one to represent the Preston & Seehorn plans. However, the supervisors went through them carefully. N. H. Mahr gave a very lengthy explanation of his design. He said he had so arranged the building that all the old material in the old court house could be used to advantage. Will D. Shea was the last to appear He is the architect for the Seminary at Menlo Park and stands high in his profession. His plans are very elaborate. He consumed considerable time in explaining every detail. The board listened attentively to the architects, asking many questions to guide them in making a selection. It is the intention of the supervisors to secure the best building possible for the money—one that will reflect credit upon the county.

After much discussion, Debenedetti moved that each supervisor be furnished with a copy of the plans and specifications for their inspection and that the board at some future time fix a day for selecting one of the designs. The motion was seconded by Blackburn and unanimously carried.

During the meeting District Attorney Bullock asked permission to read resolutions of respect in memory of the late county surveyor, William B. Gilbert. The request was granted and after the reading on motion of Supervisor MacBain seconded by Supervisor Blackburn, the resolutions as follows were adopted.

Whereas, an all seeing Providence has seen fit in His infinite wisdom to call to an eternal rest a public officer of thi scounty, our late County Surveyor, William B. Gilbert, and

Whereas, this Boadr has for many years been guided by the engineering and skill and ability of Mr. Gilbert in the construction of many concrete bridges and other public utilities which are now a lasting monument to his skill, industry and intelligence;

Now therefore, be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of the county of San Mateo, in regular session assembled, that as public officers of this County we do deeply declare his loss both ourselves to as individuals and as friends of the deceased, and also in the loss that the people of this county have sustained in the death of such a competent public official and servant, and that this Board, when adjourned, do adjourn as a mark of respect to our fellow official and friend, the late County Surveyor, W. B. Gilbert; and

Be it further resolved, that the Clerk of this Boadr be instructed to transmitte upon the official records of this Board, thi ressolution.

PREPARE FOR SALE OF STANFORD GEMS

Jewels and Personal Ornaments of Late Widow of the Magnate Worth $350,000.

After repeated delays, the famous Stanford diamond and jewelry collection is to be sold for the benefit of Stanford University.

Two diamond and jewelry experts, one from New York and one from London, have been engaged to appraise the valuable collection left by Mrs. Jane L. Stanford. Following the appraisement, the collection will be sold with as little delay as possible. The trustees of Stanford University, who are empowered to act in the matter, have been advised that during the next two or three months a favorable market for the collection can be had in the East. The greater part of it lies in a New York safe deposit vault and the trustees will probably sell the entire collection there if a bid satisfactory to them is made.

It is mandatory for the trustees to sell the diamonds and jewelry and use the funds so obtained for the benefit of the university. A provision to that effect is contained in the will of Mrs. Stanford. An exaggerated idea as to the value of the collection generally prevails, it having been repeatedly stated since Mrs. Stanford's death that it was worth $1,000,000. Horace Davis, Timothy Hopkins, Judge Lieb of San Jose, Charles G. Lathrop and others of the trustees express the opinion that the collection ranges in value between $250,000 and $350,000. They think the appraisement will be between those two figures.

New Train For Goldfeild

The Southern Pacific and Tonopah & Goldfield R. R. have decided to run another train each way daily between Reno and Goldfield commencing February 3, 1907. The new train will give Owl service, covering the distance by night. Train will leave Reno at 10:00 p. m. arriving at Tonopah and Goldfeild the next morning, in time to connect with the stages and autos for outlaying camps. In the opposite direction trains will leave Tonopah and Goldfield in the evening arriving at Reno the next morning. There will be connecting trains in both directions from Reno to San Francisco and Salt Lake City and all other eastern cities. Through Pullman sleepers will be operated between San Francisco and Tonopah and Goldfield. The present train leaves San Francisco at night carrying chair cars and standard Pullman sleepers through to Tonopah and Goldfield arriving at those points the following night, west bound trains leave Goldfield in the morning and arrive at San Francisco the following night.

Phenomenal developement of the mineral resources of the Sierra Nevada is steadily continuing. New Camps are continually being opened up and more work is being done at the larger centers.

Ocean Shore Railroad Co

The Ocean Shore R. R. will be 83 miles long, not including side tracks and switches, or the promised double track, between Santa Cruz and San Francisco. Estimating the cost of this road at $50,000 a mile the total investment will be $4,150,000, not an unreasonable dissimate by any means considering the present cost of labor and material, and the character of the broken and seamed country traversed.

The cost of right-of-ways and depot grounds is large. The road is a series of cuts and fills from start to finish. The hills often come close to the sea. The gorges are deep and close together. The trestles, costing as high as as $8,000 each, are only in use long enough to make fills. When the road is finished it will be nearly on a dead level and as straight as the engineers could make it.

At the mouth of Waddell creek and beyond Halfmoon Bay, the sea, terrible at some seasons of the year has to be reconed with.. It thunders against the cliff, laughing at the frail work of puny man.

Visitors who have driven along the wagon road which is near the railroad at all points, tell us that the Ocean Shore Co. is entitled to patience and thanks for what they have done are doing and will have to do before the road is permanently open to trade and travel..

A New Railroad To To Santa Cruz

The Southern Pacific is building a new cut off to Santa Cruz from the city, which will leave San Jose to one side. The newroute will be made up as follows: Coast division from Third and Townsend street depot to Mayfield, thence to Los Gatos and to Santa Cruz. This latter piece of road is being converted from a narrow into a broad gauge road. There are several tunnels along it. A force of 300 men is working night and day widening these tunnels. It is expected the new line will be ready for operation by next June.

The Mayfield-Los Gatos piece of roadis to be used jointly by the Southern Pacific and the Peninsular Electric Railroad Company. The latter is a Harriman property. The Peninsular Company is building an electric road south of this City. The piece of road between Los Gatos and Mayfield is to be sixteen miles long. Half way between those two points is Steven's creek, from which point ten miles of road is to be built into San Jose. From the same point northwardly twenty-four miles of road to San Mateo, where connection will be made with the suburban branch of the United Railroads for San Francisco.

From Steven's creek to Redwood City the new electric line will skirt the foothills several miles to the west of the Coast division road. From Redwood City to San Mateo it will run close to the Coast division's right of way.

This new cut-off steam line to Santa Cruz will do away with the narrow-guage route. It will not, however interfere with the present Coast division route to Santa Cruz by way of Tajaro.

The new cut-off will shorten the distance from the city to Santa Cruz ten miles.

IBSEN'S PARADOX.

And the Intimate Relation of Science to Society.

Ibsen, my great compatriot, has in one of his works formulated the paradox that the man is strongest who stands most alone. There is certainly some truth in this—nay, there is much truth in it so far as science is concerned. The man who in the search for truth goes his way independently of other men and of other considerations is certainly the man who is apt to find the greatest and most valuable truth. On the other hand, it is also true that science more than most other things in life depends on co-operation, on the help of one's fellow beings, and this becomes more and more true every day. Many people are apt to forget what science actually is and what they owe to science, for it is through science that modern society actually exists, and the development of society as it is today would be impossible if science were eliminated. Humanity is growing; but, if science and the means created by science are not growing, humanity will have to look forward to a very miserable future. Therefore the nation that wishes to be cared for must support science and those who carry on scientific work. Science will live her own life and has done so ever since the days when Prometheus made his fatal expedition to the gods and stole the fire which is more or less burning in every one of us and cannot be extinguished. There is something sublime in this everlasting fire of science. Generation after generation disappears. The individual is nothing, but always "watchful in the tower man shall remain in sleepless contemplation."—Dr. Nansen.

THE SACRED LOTUS.

Sentiment of the Orient About the Fruit of Destiny.

Concerning the rich fruit of the lotus, which grew luxuriantly in the Nile, many charming legends have been told. It was believed that it was so delightful that those who ate of it would never leave the spot where it grew, but for it would abandon home and friends to spend their lives in a dream of serene delight. Homer, in the Odyssey, mentions the lotus eaters who lived on the northern coast of Africa and records their attempts to detain the followers of Ulysses by giving them the fruits of the lotus to eat, so that they should never wish to leave the spot where it grew.

The same poetical idea is known to the Arabs, who call it the "fruit of destiny," which is to be eaten in Paradise, and it is on this foundation that Tennyson built his charming poem of the "Lotus Eaters." This mythical lotus has been identified by several botanists with that indigenous to Tunis, which is a thorny shrub, with berries the size of an olive.

Mungo Park found a species of lotus in Central Africa bearing berries of a delicious taste, which on being dried and pounded made wholesome and pleasant bread. The lotus fruit found in Tunis has a stimulating, almost intoxicating, effect, and it is therefore probable that this plant furnished the foundation of the ancient legends.

WHEN WAGES WERE LOW.

And a Turkey Dinner For Six Cost Only 17 Cents.

"Columbus," said an antiquary of Chicago, "got a salary of $320 a year—less than a dollar a day. His captains got $180 a year apiece. His crew got $2.25 a month. To equip the expedition that discovered America cost $2,800. The total cost of discovering America was $7,200.

"Lawyers nowadays, especially corporation lawyers, think nothing of earning a million a year. In the reign of Edward IV. a baronet entered in his diurnal, or diary:

"'Paid to Roger Fylpott, learned in the law, for his counsel, 3 shillings, with fourpence for his dinner.'

"Ministers often make today $20,000 or $30,000 a year, yet John Knox only got $220 a year, or $4 a week, and that was a dollar more a week than Scottish judges got.

"Small salaries, those," concluded the antiquary, "but we must remember that in that epoch there were no trusts to inflate prices, and a dollar went a long way. In fact, a Christmas dinner for a family of six would have cost in John Knox's time: For the turkey, 10 cents; cranberry sauce, 2 cents; potatoes, 1 cent; turnips, 1 cent; celery, 1 cent; plum pudding, 2 cents; total, 17 cents, or less than 3 cents a head."

Friendship With Wild Life.

If a fairy had ever offered to grant me three wishes, "the full confidence of wild animals" would surely have been one of them and probably the first. If we seek opportunities to befriend wild creatures and take advantage of them, we shall often find, as I have done, that there is no lack of response on the part of the animals. I once walked up to a pine siskin, as he was feeding on the ground and picked him up in my hand. He did not seem a bit alarmed, and when a few minutes later I set him down he continued his search for food within a few inches of my feet. On another occasion a yellow throated vireo allowed me to lift her from her nest when I wished to count her eggs and nestled down comfortably on her treasures the moment I put her back. With a forefinger I once stroked the back of a red breasted nuthatch as he was busy feeding on a tree.—Ernest Harold Baynes in St. Nicholas.

An Answered Prayer.

"I sent my little girl," writes a correspondent, "to the butcher's with 50 cents to buy some steak. She came home 10 cents short in change and was sent back for the missing coin. Presently the butcher's boy called with the dime and explained that his employer had found out his mistake, although they had seen nothing of my little daughter. The time went on, and I felt anxious until I heard her singing merrily in the garden. 'Did you go back to the butcher's?' I asked. 'No, mother, it is such a long way, so I asked God to send for the dime. Has it not come yet?'"

Contagious.

An Irish lad on the east side was obliged recently to seek treatment at a dispensary. On his return home from the first treatment he was met by this inquiry from his mother:

"An' what did the docthor man say was the matter wid your eye?"

"He said there was some furrin substance in it."

"Shure!" exclaimed the old woman, with an I-told-you-so air, "now, maybe, ye'll kape away from thim Eyetalian boys!"—Success Magazine.

Her Impression.

"Now I have an impression in my head," said the teacher. "Can any of you tell me what an impression is?"

"Yes'm, I can," replied a little fellow at the foot of the class. "An impression is a dent in a soft spot."—Birmingham (Ala.) Advance.

Natural Enough.

"They say that Bradley goes on like mad since he inherited his vast wealth."

"What does he do?"

"Oh, he acts like one possessed."—Lippincott's.

Generally the purchase of a book is mistaken for the acquisition of its contents.—Schopenhauer.

Conspicuous.

The minister had preached to the graduating class of a girls' college. The girls of the class were on the platform all round the pulpit and all dressed in white.

"I felt," confessed the preacher to his wife when he got home, "like a crow on a snowdrift."

Life, to be worthy of a rational being, must be always in progression. We must always purpose to do more or better than in time past.—Johnson.

The peculiar simplicity of the country darky in the south is illustrated by a story told by a congressman.

An old negro had gone to a postoffice in Mississippi and offered for the mail a letter that was over the weight specified for a single stamp.

"This is too heavy," said the postmaster. "You will have to put another stamp on it."

The old darky's eyes widened in astonishment. "Will anudder stamp make it any lighter, boss?" he asked.—Harper's Weekly.
